

Friday 9th July 2021

Dear All,

You will have heard the news this week that the government are going to remove restrictions from Monday 19th of July. This is very exciting and we hope that it will lead to a fresh start in September. For the remainder of this term though, it doesn't make sense to change drop-off and collection times for just 3 days. So, drop-off and collection will remain exactly the same until the end of term but we will relax the bubbles where we can within school. Hopefully this should lead to a nice relaxed end of term with some happy playtimes.

Exactly what September will look like isn't quite confirmed but it is most likely that we will return to our pre-covid opening hours of 8.45am – 3.15pm. The staggered start and end to the day has really impacted on the useful learning time within school so we look forward to getting back to 'normal' whatever that might be!

Have a lovely weekend!

This week in class...

Pre-school: This week preschool has been playing 'going to the cinema' and a couple of boys built their own. It became quite a problem when some of the audience kept talking on their mobile phones and refused to turn them off! We have also practiced using prepositions this week and the children were able to tell me if teddy was on, in or behind the table etc. A note will go home next week inviting the children going up to big school to come along to their graduation party.

Acorn: Acorn Class have been learning about the geography of the UK and the world this week. The children have learnt about the four countries of the UK as well as the continents and oceans in the world. On the same topic, we have painted the watercolour pictures of a shipwreck based on Turner's paintings. Separate parts of the picture were painted then combined in a collage to create the final piece. Finally, the children have been thinking about being shipwrecked on an island. They have made poems of ten things that a shipwrecked sailor might have in his pocket. Next week we have an exciting visit to a London museum in the way of an interactive session with the Victoria and Albert museum. The education team at the V&A will take the children on an adventure to four countries, looking at the culture and artwork there through their artefacts.

Oak: Oak class have been busy this week getting things ready for our Grand Tour of Europe. We have been experts in our Country of choice - perhaps ask the children to tell you something they have found out. In maths YR5/6 have been learning about volume and capacity and we have been building structures and calculating their volume. In PSHE we have been learning about what makes a good friend and how to resolve conflict.
