

Friday 19th November

Dear All,

It was lovely to welcome parents into school this week to view Acorn's Tudor houses, thank you to everyone who was able to come along. We are now beginning to gather work together ready for our whole school topic exhibition on December 8th. This will be an opportunity to see all of the work the children have been doing this term on their own identity – exploring 'What makes me, me?'. I hope you will be able to come and share in our celebration.

Next Tuesday is our next coffee afternoon for parents, starting at 2pm. The plan is to share coffee, cake and talk a little bit about our hi-five and behaviour policy. Please do pop in if your able, it would be great to see you.

Have a lovely weekend,

Mrs L Watts – Executive Headteacher

This week in class...

Pre-school: Preschool have continued to explore autumn this week and have made lots of lovely impressions in playdough using pinecones and leaves. Shapes have also featured in the children's play - we have used them in construction and arranging them to make lots of animals and rockets.

Acorn: Acorn class have been thinking about what makes them special this week. They have been creating some lovely artwork in the run up to the exhibition. The children enjoyed showing what they know about houses in the past with parents. Thank you to all parents who were able to come. In preparation for our woodwork project, it would be great if you could send in any bottle tops.

Oak: Following on from their Banham Zoo Roadshow visit, Oak Class have been working on their own research about animal adaptations and have presented their learning to the class. Years 5 and 6 have also been working on a diary entry to record the visit, practising their use of sentence structure. In PSHE, we all considered our rights under the United Nations Charter Rights of the Child and decided which ones were felt to be the most important. The children enjoyed an art workshop on Wednesday afternoon, where they were able to begin work on a 3D paper model of their head which will also form part of the end of term exhibition.

This week's Hi-five awards go to...

Henry – for being a kind friend

Emily – for being a patient friend

Oakley – for great effort in phonics

Maisie – for being an excellent secret superstar and overcoming her fears

Bonnie – for a well-researched, structured and presented presentation on hippos!

Maxwell – for excellent collaboration on research for your presentation on King Cobras

Stanley - for excellent collaboration on research for your presentation on King Cobras

Riley - for excellent collaboration on research for your presentation on King Cobras

Ava – for overcoming her fear of public speaking to tell us all about tigers

Tommy - for a well-researched, structured and presented presentation on hippos!

Coffee Afternoon

Don't forget that we're holding another parents' coffee afternoon on November 23rd. There isn't a classroom drop-in this time so this will just be an opportunity to meet in the hall and have coffee and cake. Our focus for the session will be the hi-five and our new behaviour system but we will also be happy to answer any other burning questions you have! We would also like to know if you have any themes you'd like to cover at future sessions. We look forward to seeing you there.

House Fundraising

Kestrel House are having a bake sale at 3pm on Monday 29th in the playground to raise money for their chosen charity, The Wildlife Trust to sponsor a seal. This date has been moved back by a week to give more notice. Any donations of cake, homemade or bought would be very gratefully received and can be brought into school on the morning of the 29th.
